Clocks Fall Back One Hour Sunday

News Briefs

Police Recommend 6-8 p.m. Halloween Trick-or-Treating

The City of Grayling Police Department would like to recommend that this year's Halloween Trick-or-Treating be done between the hours of 6 and 8 p.m. Wednesday, October 31.

People driving in the Grayling area on Wednesday the 31st are asked to be exceptionally observant for the young "Goblins" during this time.

This year the Crawford AuSable School Elementary Halloween Parade will begin at the Elementary School at 1 p.m. on the 31st and will proceed down Michigan Ave. to the I-75 Business Loop, returning to the Elementary School by the same route. This is quite a spectacle to watch and the public is encouraged to come out for the parade.

Please observe these friendly reminders to parents and "young goblins" who will be participating in Halloween Trick-or-Treat activities:

1. Masks or material obstructing vision should be removed when crossing traffic areas.
2. All treats should be taken home for inspection before they are eaten.
3. Costumes should be non-flammable material, light in color for good visibility and should not interfere with vision.
4. Flashlights should be carried after dark, parents should escort children.
5. Trick-or-Treaters should approach only residents having porch lights or similar indications of welcome displayed.

"Remember, Halloween is a time for having fun, malicious vandalism only detracts from this and creates public distaste," said Police Chief Peter Stephan.

Candy Screening Available Halloween Night At Hospital

Mercy Hospital/Grayling has joined the National Crime Prevention Council in an effort to make Halloween safer in Grayling. Mercy Hospital has available free Halloween bags and will be screening children's candy for foreign objects on Halloween night.

The Radiology Department staff will put candy under a fluoroscope to detect any foreign objects. Children can bring their Halloween treats to the Mercy Radiology Department from 6:30 to 8 p.m. for this service.

McGruff Halloween bags are available at the hospital in the front lobby and the emergency department. The Crawford County Deputy Sheriff Association will also have free McGruff Halloween bags available. Contact deputies Dave Lovely or Richard Meyer for more information. These bags feature safety tips that children will remember while they are out trick-or-treating. McGruff, the mascot for the National Crime Prevention Council, has been educating children nationwide about crime prevention for the last ten years.

LUCKY ELK HUNTER—Joe LaForest, 17, of Grayling, bagged this bull elk 15 minutes after the season opened on October 16. LaForest was walking in the woods near Onaway when he spotted the 4 1/2-year-old elk, which weighed 490 pounds and had a 5 by 5 point rack. It took two shots to drop it. LaForest has been hunting since he was 12.

WASTE-WOOD SUPPLIES QUESTIONED

Supporters of the electrical plant claim it will use only waste wood such as tops and branches from timber cutting, sawdust, and demolition wood, but Linda Caswell, president of AuSable Conservation Trust, pointed out that GGS's operating permit allows it to use stumpage if scrap is not available.

"What happens to Crawford County's economy when they cut down all the trees?" asked Caswell. "Do we wait another 40 or 50 years for the forests to grow back?"

Barrett said GGS's air permit does not restrict its fuel sources, but added quickly that its financing sources do. GGS's construction is being financed by revenue bonds for the Michigan Strategic Fund which limits its fuel consumption to waste-wood products.

"If we use live trees we will lose our financing," he said. "We would have to totally refinance the project with taxable financing."

ACT Questions Emissions; Plant Receives Permit

Not everyone in Crawford County favors construction of the Grayling Generating Station. In fact, Linda Caswell, president of AuSable Conservation Trust (ACT), a local environmental group, called the Grayling Generating Station the county's most serious problem.

"This is more serious than the construction of Georgia-Pacific and the expansion of Weyerhaeuser, yet not one county or city official, not one resident, said one word against it except me and the head of the Michigan Lung Association, Alex Sagady," she said. "For this community to accept a wood-fired co-generation plant without a murmur shows the quality of people who live here."

Caswell said other communities located near co-generation plants have experienced problems with fly ash and air emissions of benzopyrene and beryllium, two known carcinogens.

DNR District Supervisor Air Quality Division Richard Alexander said the Grayling Generating Station meets all state criteria for regulated air pollutants as well as regulations from two federal programs.

The federal Standards for Performance for New Stationary Sources (NSPS) regulates all new electric producing facilities, regardless of what fuel is used, to insure they meet the standards for new air pollution sources. The federal Prevention of Significant Deterioration (PSD) program requires that the "best available control technology" (BACT) be installed on all new pollution sources.

Alexander said BACT limits for emissions from GGS for the following chemicals are: carbon monoxide, 209.2 pounds per hour; nitrous oxides, 78.5 pounds per hour; beryllium, .005 pounds per hour (.02 tons per year); benzopyrene, .0054 pounds per hour; and volatile organic compounds, 22.5 pounds per year.

Beryllium is listed with the DNR as a known carcinogen and benzopyrene as a toxic chemical, but Alexander said both were treated as cancer causing chemicals during the review process.

Director of Business for CMS Generation, Ted Barrett, said Dr. Barry Shorthouse, a chemical engineering professor at Wayne State University, said there is no beryllium in wood and that burning it should produce zero emissions of the chemical.

"Dr. Shorthouse said if wood fuel is burned at temperatures greater than 2,000 F and have a residence of more than one second, benzopyrene shouldn't be a problem either," said Barrett. "We will be burning between 2,400 and 2,700 F and have a residence of five seconds."

GGS's permit allows 15.7 pounds of particulate emissions per hour or 68.7 tons per year. Particulate is made up of dust, ash and other by-products of combustion. Alexander said GGS

3 Persons Injured On County Rd. 612

Three persons were injured early Saturday morning, October 20, in an automobile accident on County Road 612.

Crawford County Sheriff deputies were sent to a residence in Frederic Township to investigate the report of a possible accident victim. When they arrived, the officers found an unresponsive man in critical condition. The man was transported to Mercy Hospital and was later flown to St. Marys Hospital in Saginaw by North Flight.

A search of the Frederic Township area was started and subsequently deputies found the accident on County Road 612 and two more accident victims. One of these victims was taken by ambulance to Mercy Hospital.

According to sheriff deputies, alcohol was believed to be a contributing factor in the accident. The names of the victims are being withheld pending notification of family.

2 Injured When Car Rolls Over

Two Grayling residents were injured early Wednesday, October 17, when their car left Twin Bridge Road in Lovells Township and rolled over.

David Neal Carson, 27, driver of the car, and his passenger, Darlene Pemberton, 34, were taken by Frederic Township Ambulance to Mercy Hospital. Carson was transferred to Munson Medical Center in Traverse City and Pemberton was admitted to Mercy Hospital in fair condition.

The accident occurred when a deer ran in front of Carson's car as he was driving southbound on Twin Bridge Road, just north of County Road 612, at a fast rate of speed. Carson attempted to swerve to avoid hitting the deer and lost control of his car, sliding sideways into the ditch and rolling over.

Pemberton, who was wearing her seat belt at the time of the accident, was able to walk to a nearby residence and call for help.

Carson was cited by Crawford County deputies for violation of the basic speed law. Alcohol was also involved.

This Sunday we're supposed to set our clocks back an hour. Hooray. Going off Daylight Saving Time is about as much fun as removing dog piles from your lawn.

First of all, it already gets dark too quickly now. So we want to knock another hour off our afternoons when it's reasonably warm and tack it on the morning when it's as cold as the springs in the AuSable River?

And who's got time to sit down with a manual to reprogram all your clocks? Maybe the people who manufacture the clocks do -- because why else would every clock be so different to reset?

You master the VCR clock and you'd think resetting the automobile clock would be a piece of cake. No way.

You conquer the radio-alarm clock and you think you could handle resetting a wrist-watch. Fat chance.

You maneuver through changing your computer clock and you think changing the time on your store's cash register would be easier. Foolish thought.

And don't forget to reprogram the clock or timer mechanism for your hot water heater, your coffee maker, furnace, or night security system.

One clock alone would be easy to remember the correct sequence to program. First hit the tuner button, then punch the delete button until the flashing M appears. When the flashing M turns in to a happy face enter your seconds, minutes, and hours within three seconds of each other or you have to start all over.

Throw in half a dozen clocks manufactured by different companies and manuals are sometimes needed. Yes, those wonderful manuals that assume a slow-witted musk ox purchased the item and assign six steps to a simple procedure such as turning the power switch on.

It's as if each company has an engineering dept. competing with other companies' engineering departments to come up with a new and better clock. And, of course, the more sophisticated the clock, the more complex the manual needs to be, right?

Is it any wonder why the clock on my VCR blinks for weeks before I care enough to stop its flashing? (And then I just hit enough buttons to restart it at 12 noon no matter what time it really is.)

Many folks are particular about setting their clocks. Some like having the precise time and insist their watch or clocks are correct. Others have watches and clocks running one to five minutes late.

For a long time we had one clock at home set ten minutes ahead because we have an approximately 10 minute drive into Grayling. It didn't help me at all. I was still late most of the time. I automatically took 10 minutes off the clock's time to get the "real time" anyway.

It also wasn't worth the bother of having to explain to everyone who came over, "Yes, you're right. That clock is ten minutes fast. And, yes, the VCR clock is not right either."

Getting back to Daylight Saving Time, some people (including quite a few cheering patrons in the bars) actually set their clocks back at the official 2:00 a.m. time Sunday. Most do it on Saturday night. Some remember Sunday morning. Others think of it after they pull into an empty church parking lot and wonder where everyone is.

I like the people who make it all the way to Monday morning without knowing about the time switch and show up early for work.

You can have your Daylight Saving Time. I like the way we keep time when we're vacationing in Canada. Even though there are no clocks or watches around for miles, sometimes the kids will forget and ask what time it is. "Why, it's daylight time and we're not saving it for anything, we're going to use it all up before nighttime."

Whole Community Makes A Physician Stay

Editor:

I am writing in regards to the ongoing discussion on these pages about retaining qualified physicians in the area. I am a board certified emergency physician and moved here to Grayling from Ann Arbor two years ago as Director of Emergency Services. This was to try and bring high quality emergency medical care to this area, so I have been here to witness the medical staff changes in the area over that time. There are a multitude of reasons why physician retention in the Grayling area is difficult. Some of these reasons are beyond our control, such as the rural nature of the area and the lack of urban amenities -- even if a physician enjoys this area, their spouse may not be quite as enamored of a small town or rural lifestyle. There is also the difficult nationwide problem of inadequate reimbursement for hospitals and health-care providers -- urban hospitals receive more money for the same services, even though it is more cost efficient for them to provide the services in their larger settings. This places rural hospitals in severe financial jeopardy, as evidenced by the large number of closures of rural hospitals in recent times. The lack of money limits the services the hospital can provide the patient and physicians, making rural practice that much more difficult for the physicians. Mercy Hospital should be commended for its "taking the bull by the horns" and over the past two years returning the hospital to a break even point of financial viability, instead of allowing the steady losses it was incurring to threaten its survival. That basic priority of survival of the institution has to be established before other questions such as attracting physicians can be addressed. The hospital, however, has done an excellent job including maintaining services and, indeed, expanding services to the community in spite of the strained financial picture.

I think, however, that the real root cause of the physicians I have known leaving has been not the hospital itself, but the stress of practicing in this area. The stress is created in large part by overwork. This is due partly to a lack of physicians in the area, and also specifically for the internists and family practice physicians, by a large group of patients that do not have a regular doctor (often transients from down state or Florida) who require admission to the hospital. Just try as a conscientious physician to provide emergency care to a patient about whom you have no medical history, a patient who often does not even know his or her own medications. There is significant frustration in being kept up all night every several days by an increasingly demanding population. To compound this problem, the local physicians have a tremendous problem with bad debt and inadequate insurance payments. To work nights, weekends, and holidays, to not be paid, and then to deal with a patient population which may include a high number of transient people and people who are not supportive of our physicians -- is it any wonder that our physicians are leaving? I have really been quite surprised by the perceived hostility towards the hospital and local physicians -- I seldom encountered anything of this nature or extent in my past ten years of practice in Ann Arbor.

Physicians here try their best, but, are in the end merely human -- they cannot justify the injury to their home life and their life outside medicine to care for people who often do not even say "thank you" to them and who subsequently threaten to sue them because they or a family member had a bad outcome, even when the best medical care was received.

I think I can summarize all this quite easily -- the physicians are human, they have to be to be wanted and respected, not overused and abused. The hospital had recruited a fine group of internists, and it was not the hospital that caused their disappearance from the area. If the community wants to have adequate numbers of competent, caring physicians in the area, then those physicians need to be wanted and valued by their patients and community. While most of the people I have met in the Grayling area certainly do treat their physicians with kindness and respect, there is a significant minority that do not.

I enjoy this area very much, as did many of those physicians who have moved away, and while I intend to stay, I certainly understand why the others have left the area. It is, in the end, the whole community that makes a physician stay in an area or move on. Let us try to make our present and future physicians feel they never want to leave this fine community and its beautiful surroundings.

Saving Planet Earth

By Carroll Wakeley

I can write in here every week about how the environment is being ruined. Every week you can read it. But then do something to make a difference. Start in your home, which is where all the garbage starts. We are getting to a point where we do not have choices anymore. This is a pollution war.

Many celebrities are working hard to protect our planet. Jane Fonda's homes are powered through solar energy or windmills. They are landscaped so they stay cool in the summer and warm in the winter. Her household waste water (gray water) is recycled for garden use. She does fund-raising for Big Green, California's newest environmental organization. Olivia Newton-John recycles, keeps a compost pile, shops with mesh bags, and uses biodegradable cleaners. She has been named Goodwill Ambassador to the Environment by the United Nations. Ed Begley Jr. uses a bicycle, bus or electric car to get around in. He does not buy gas at all anymore. He also recycles, uses earth-friendly products, and is on the board of seven environmental organizations. Ted Danson devotes a lot of his time to saving the world's oceans.

Other environmentalists and ecologists around the country seem to think there are more detailed ways of dealing with the mess we are in. One plan is to charge people for being wasteful, and that should turn them into recyclers. The amount people pay for their garbage disposal would depend on how much of it they recycled. Under this idea, cities that recycle 60% of their trash would never need garbage burning incinerators.

A second plan involves drilling gas wells into landfills to convert the decaying garbage into energy. Most of the waste in landfills is organic and researcher's say that after ten years a large mass of it has been converted to methane and other gases. Once these raw gases are processed they are almost identical to natural gas. This was done in a landfill outside of Cincinnati and it is pumping enough gas to heat 10,000 homes.

A third idea is to ban excessive packaging. Companies should design simple, equally effective ways to wrap their products. This would shrink the volume of trash and cut down on the use of the non-renewable resource. Fast food restaurants are a good place to observe over-packaging. If you are going to eat in one of these restaurants, do you really need all that wrapping and all those containers (usually polystyrene), just while you take your food over to your table?

Idea four calls for not creating any non-degradable garbage in the first place. The natural world can teach us this one. In nature there is no waste because everything that is produced is used again. In the world of today, crops turn into sewage, uranium leaves radioactive residue, chlorine makes dioxin, and fossil fuels turn into carbon dioxide.

The world can be changed for the better by not producing anything that can't be recycled. Incineration is totally out of the picture in this plan as it will concentrate any chemicals in the garbage and leave toxic ash. Since there are not federal laws governing ash as a hazardous waste, the toxins leach into groundwater. A test to see how this plan would work was done in a city of New York. One hundred families volunteered on this, and were able to reach a recycling rate of 84%. The remaining 16% was plastic and food packaging on unsure types. These are the types of packaging that would be banned if this plan was carried out everywhere.

Finally, plan five suggests using garbage to create jobs in the area of recycling. This would help to build up the local economy in each city. Did you know that we sell our trash overseas and buy it back, all recycled into something else, for one hundred times the price? It is estimated that for every million people that recycle, 260 million dollars per year can be added to the economy. A company in Pennsylvania that started recycled soft drink bottles in 1977, has expanded three times and now employs eighty people. The recycling of paper alone can create numerous jobs, not to mention the energy that can be saved by using it to make identical products. Community groups, churches, and city agencies can work together to get these jobs started. The only things the federal government has to do is make recycling standards mandatory, and make sure there is a balance in the cities by adding a tax credit for the use of recycled material.

These ideas may be easier said than done, but they are possible. They all make good sense, and in the future we may have to employ a bit of all of them as a solution to the planet's problem.

FUNNSIDE

"You've grown, too."

Almanack

By Richard Milliman

A sad truth: Negativism works

THE CAMPAIGN DEBATE season has opened in Michigan's top political races, and how much help these face-offs provide to the voters is open to question.

In the first James Blanchard-John Engler debate in the governor's race, both men looked and sounded gubernatorial. They didn't agree on much, but that was to be expected. They didn't directly disagree too much, either. They sort of went off on tangents of their own, which is what political debates usually do.

Neither candidate made a big mistake. Neither showed huge strengths.

If words could describe a great big shrug of the shoulders, that would be an adequate description of the first gubernatorial debate.

Two more are scheduled. They could provide breakthroughs, but it's not too likely.

Most of what was said in the first one already has been said by both candidates. Voters who have paid even casual attention to news coverage of the campaign so far already had read or seen what was offered, sometimes in exact phrases.

THE DEBATES, HOWEVER, are much more important to voters than the hate-filled political advertising clogging the airwaves the past several weeks.

The anti-opponent attack ads are distasteful; yet for anyone who watches television even a little bit, they are pervasive. The only way to escape these negative jabs is to keep the television turned off.

Negative campaign ads are not limited to Michigan. They're used all over the country. The recent Texas gubernatorial primary, for example, received lots of attention for its nastiness. So have many other races.

The problem with negative ads is that they work. If they didn't, the campaigns would not spend their millions producing and presenting them.

The most recent Detroit newspaper poll on the governor's race shows Mr. Blanchard's margin over Mr. Engler growing.

Why is Mr. Blanchard gaining, or Mr. Engler fading, or both?

In the news stories accompanying the poll, many pro-Blanchard voters cite reasons picked up on the anti-Engler ads. Mr. Blanchard's team has been airing. Obviously negativism pays.

THE ONLY WAY the voter will be protected from negative campaigning is when the effectiveness of attack campaigning wanes. As long as the negative approach works, politicians will use it.

Maybe -- just maybe -- enough voters will get fed up with the negative approach to vote against those who use it.

Maybe -- just maybe -- the proliferation of negative campaigning contributes to the growing undercurrent against all incumbents who are in office.

Maybe -- just maybe -- public revulsion about how political campaigns are conducted will add fuel to the campaign to limit terms of elected officials, thus forcing turnover in government.

We can hope.

A WELCOME LOSS -- National political leaders of both parties joined in a collective sigh of relief when votes were counted in the recent Louisiana election.

Sen. J. Bennett Johnston, a Democrat, won a fourth term in Washington, and Democratic leaders were happy about that.

So were Republican leaders. They were overjoyed that the nominal Republican candidate, David Duke, lost to Mr. Johnston.

Mr. Duke, in an earlier career, was grand wizard of the Ku Klux Klan. A year or so ago, he won election to the Louisiana legislature as a Republican, although opposed by the regular GOP party organization. This year, he decided to run for the U.S. Senate, again with the active opposition of his nominal party leadership.

The regular Republican candidate, State Sen. Ben Bagert, dropped out of the race the week before the election, and threw his support to Democrat Johnston. A team of six Republican U.S. senators stumped the state just before the vote, urging votes for Democrat Johnston.

Something must have worked. Mr. Johnston won a new term. Enough Louisiana voters wised up to deny Mr. Duke his desired promotion to Washington.

But the sad fact is that David Duke still got about 44 percent of the vote.

That's a depressing commentary on the state of politics in America -- or at least in Louisiana.

It should make all of us just a little bit uncomfortable.

Let's Talk About It

By Joe Murphy

It seems someone wants me to keep my column going. I had taken a letter in to the Avalanche on Monday the fifteenth of October to be published on the twenty-fifth that I was quitting my column. I cited lack of input by my readers as the reason for quitting. On Friday the nineteenth I received a letter from an old friend, Eugene Harmer of Frederic, containing a lot of information on that grand old man of Frederic, George Horton. George was Gene's grandfather and he had left his home to a lot of good material on that man I remembered so well from childhood days. A quick call to the Avalanche put a stop on that letter and I was soon at work getting this column out.

George Horton if he were still alive would now be 112 years old. He was reported to be the first white child born in Crawford County. His life reads like a history of Crawford County. As a child and young man he saw the days of the big timber. His stories of the fabulous fishing in the AuSable and Manistee rivers is mind boggling. He told of one trip to the South Branch when in just over two hours he took 113 trout 9-12 inches long. George worked for most of the big lumbermen in this area. When he was 14 he quit school and went to work for Henry Stevens on his line west of Waters. He worked in lumber camps for a lot of his working years. With the timber gone he did some road work. When I was a kid around Frederic, George had a horse or two and was always willing to give us a ride. George became badly crippled with arthritis and spent many years bedridden with it. One deer season he wanted to go deer hunting one more time. His family went out and prepared a place for him to sit and had his gun propped up for he could not lift it. Old George had a nice buck walk up and stop in just the right place and he got his last buck.

The old man has got himself a real bad cold and feels really lousy. So please excuse the short column this week. It seems I only get one cold a year anymore but it lasts from fall till spring.

$60 Million Plant

County commission chairman Robert McLachlan said he favors having the plant built here, but has several concerns including some alarm when GGS increased its proposed facility from the original 28 megawatt to 34 megawatt.

Besides the Grayling Generating Station, Michigan has three other waste wood generating facilities in Midland, Hillman, and Lincoln with future plans for one in Cadillac. Each of these plants tries to secure its fuel from within a 50 mile radius and McLachlan said when these circles begin interlocking he is concerned they will starve each other out, driving up stumpage costs, which could hurt Crawford County companies like Weyerhaeuser and AJD Forest Products.

Last summer McLachlan, owner of Milltown Refuse, said he hauled cherry pits from Traverse City to the co-generation plant in Hillman because they needed the fuel.

He estimated that within two years, as much as 30 percent of GGS's fuel will come from stumpage.

"We need our forests for noise control," he said. "Clear cutting in the Lovells and Guthrie Lake areas have contributed to the National Guard noise complaints there."

DNR forester Jim McMillan also questions whether there is enough waste wood to supply the needs of GGS.

"From my own experience, with the quantity that will be needed, I don't think there is that much waste wood around the area," he said.

McMillan said when Dow Corning began operating its plant it was going to use only scrap material and wood it could get for 50 cents a cord, wood nobody wanted. But when their supplies dwindled, they had to turn to chipped wood from normal wood. He said the same is true for the waste-wood plants in Hillman and Lincoln.

"I'm not saying that's bad," he said, "but they will have to compete with companies like Weyerhaeuser and Georgia-Pacific for available wood." McMillan said trees close to Grayling could go to GGS and the increase demand could also raise stumpage prices.

On the positive side, McLachlan said the county will benefit by additional jobs at both at GGS and AJD Forest Products and more taxes for the county.

Caswell believes the jobs and taxes come at too high a price to the county's residents and visitors to the area.

Plant Receives Air Permit

would not be considered a "major particulate source." He said an emission of 250 tons of particulate per year would be a major particulate source. Weyerhaeuser's permit allows it to emit up to 245 tons of particulate per year.

GGS's emission control system will include an electrostatic precipitator designed to remove more than 99 percent of all particles contained in the flue gas. There will also be a selective catalytic reduction system which chemically reduces the nitrous oxides below DNR and EPA allowable limits.

During the review process, Alexander said the DNR uses the Risk Assessment Evaluation that looks at property line air emissions.

"Emissions cannot increase the cancer risk for humans more than one in 1,000,000," he explained. "And the figures on the Grayling Generating Station are well below that level."

Alexander said the DNR will probably ask GGS to check its stack emissions within 180 days of start-up, using an approved EPA test method. If the numbers are in compliance with their permit, GGS will probably not be asked to run further tests unless the company switches fuel or increases its production capacity. The maximum number of tests required by the DNR is one every three years. He said further testing is not necessary because the operation of a boiler does not change significantly over time to cause a difference in its emissions.

According to Alexander, the DNR reviewed GGS's permit request thoroughly, even taking into account the combined emissions of the four manufacturing companies located within a mile of one another on Four Mile Road and the total of all emissions from Weyerhaeuser, Georgia-Pacific, AJD Forest Products and GGS still met the one in 1,000,000 risk factor for beryllium and benzopyrene.

Caswell spoke against construction of the Grayling Generating Station before the Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission on March 20, stating ACT was opposed to further pollution in the Grayling area and that the environmental group is concerned with problems connected with co-generation plants.

"An important fact about our environment," stated Caswell, "is that when it is polluted it's polluted for a long time."

Mr. Alex Sagady, representing the American Lung Association, questioned whether GGS's permit represented the "best available control technology" (BACT). He said Dow Corning's permit required a baghouse filter on their wood-fired boiler, something not being required in the GGS permit. Sagady also questioned why there should be any visible emissions from the ash handling facilities.

Barrett explained that baghouse filters work good on coal, gas, and oil fired boilers, but tend to repeatedly catch fire when wood is burned because of the charred materials in the stack. He said the electrostatic precipitator works with the same efficiency as a baghouse for waste-wood fired boilers.

The Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission voted 8-0 (four commissioners were absent) to issue a permit for the Grayling Generating Station.

Local Girl Scouts Writing Servicemen

Local Girl Scouts are taking part in Operation: Friendship — a pen pal/friendship program with American service members in Saudi Arabia and the Persian Gulf.

Girl Scout letters and packages will be addressed to "Any Service Member" and distributed randomly to squads and individuals. Service members share the letters and, if they choose, they may write back and begin a pen pal correspondence.

If any area families would like local Girl Scouts to write to their family member in Saudi Arabia or the gulf, they are encouraged to contact the Mitten Bay Girl Scout Council office, 517-754-6521 or 1-800-968-1185, with the service member's name.

Captain Banks of the Public Affairs Office at Wurtsmith Air Force Base explained that military personnel can not release the names of local service men and women, but family members may give the information, if they so choose.

I believe in limited government and continued maximum public comment and open expression of views.

Public service requires self-sacrifice, rather than self-interest. Taxpayers today, more than ever, deserve officials who will monitor our law enforcement officers; instead of the other way around.

I'm honored and pleased that our township officials, and others who follow local government, have complimented and praised my efforts as your incumbent. Encouraged to continue, especially by over-taxed home-owners who say, "Well done Joe, we believe you have our concerns at heart," I'm pledged to stay the right course. As an economic-conservative, I will bring stable and honorable dedication to the integrity of our now-charged board.

Bless you all, and God Bless America.

Sunglasses for Windows

"It's like putting sunglasses on a window," says David Biblar, about applying Lumar solar controlled window films.

The micro-thin, polyester-nylar films are virtually invisible when properly applied to existing windows.

"But the films block as much as 80% of the heat in summer and retains as much as 65% of the heat in the winter," says Biblar, co-owner of Quality Window Tinting in Traverse City, Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo with his wife Judy.

Three types of films - reflective, non-reflective and Low E series are available, all of which virtually eliminate the ultra-violet rays which cause sun rot, fading and sun glare. These films are all covered by a 7 year warranty.

Quality Window Tinting also installs solar control film on motor homes and passenger vehicles. All installations come with a lifetime guarantee.

Take Me Home

A Look At Our Past

23 Years Ago

October 26, 1967

Danny McClain, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim McClain, won first place in the 11-year-old division of Zone competition of Punt, Pass and Kick. Danny scored 223 1/2 points to qualify for state competition in Lansing.

Sunday, October 15, the Grayling Athletic Field, two footballs, 80 young boys, chilly weather and hot chocolate. These items provide the setting for the second Punt, Pass & Kick contest staged by the Grayling Area Jaycees.

The eight and eleven-year-olds started competing at twelve-thirty and by one-fifteen the winners were announced. In the eight-year-old class Eddie Bayham was first with 108 points. Eddie was followed by Mike Schible and Jeff Osga with 96.5 and 86 points respectively. Danny McClain led the eleven-year-olds with a whopping 212 score. Scores of 196 and 181 by Chris Golnick and Bert Kaiser were good for second and third places in this division.

The nine-year-old group was led by Pat Smith with 147.5, followed by Larry Bayham, 142 and Craig Hinkel, 137.5.

A score of 239 was enough to earn first place for Jimmy McClain in the twelve-year-old division. Second and third were Jerry King 226 and John Kesby 173.

John Tobin posted 178 points in winning the ten-year-old group as David Johnston and Doug Hinkel took second and third with scores of 150 and 146.

In the thirteen-year-old division there was very spirited and talented competition for the top three places. When the scores were finally tabulated Kim Parkinson was declared the winner with a very high score of 253 points. Mike McNamara took second with 245 and Dan McIsaac finished third with 203.

The School Of Hard Knocks

It's not the passing years that brings man wisdom
It's the facing of life's problems day by day
Being able to learn from the mistakes you make
While you're trying to find a better way

It's that school of hard knocks that teaches us
How to cope with living and life
At times we may get beaten and battered
But we learn from those bouts with strife

The young man with his college degree
May think he is all done with school
But the school of hard knocks is waiting
To show him up as a fool

He may think he has his life all planned and charted
But the well laid plans of mice and men often go awry
Wisdom is not gained by complaining
But from his efforts to find out why

Though at times you may wonder
If the prize is worth the pain
Wisdom is learning from your defeat
And getting up to fight again

No, just getting old will not bring wisdom
It takes much more than passing years
It takes the strife and pain of living
And a lot of blood, sweat, and tears

The Town Painter

ERIC SHEPHERD

The costume for the town painter is meant to express the painter's attitude. It is a fancy, delicate costume made of expensive, gold and silk material. The suit is very light-weight for free movement when painting. His purple sunglasses (as he puts it), "protect my eyes from the Model's bright picture, (her face obviously). My eyes are dark which is why I paint the dark pieces." His nonchalant speech and renaissance clothing is only accented by his cryptic modern art and crazy ideas. The town painter is the most popular socialite in his region. He hopes that his posterity will continue this tradition. He is considered the "Elvis of Art."

His clothes mainly consist of dark greens, purples, and browns all trimmed with gold or paisley design. His apparel for each day reflect the mood he is currently in. He loves to travel but seldom does, because of so many portrait appointments he has made.

I chose to report on the town painter because he is an artist. I wanted to express the way I felt a renaissance artist was like. When I am old enough I plan to be an artist too.

My Life As A Pumpkin
Mrs. Wallace's 5th grade

Hi, I'm Jackie Jack-O-Lantern. I'm two years old. I have three children and one husband. I was born on Mr. Fitzgivens farm. There were at least a hundred of us.

One day I was sitting in the pumpkin patch (as I normally do) and I saw Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgivens and their three children come out into the patch. They were picking pumpkins. All of a sudden I was lifted in the air. I had been picked up by Mr. Fitzgivens' oldest, Julie. She turned me around, and then ran home. Before I knew it I was on the kitchen table. She was carving me.

I can't say Halloween night was any holiday for me. All I did was sit in the window. It was okay, I guess.

After Halloween the Fitzgivens put me in the freezer until next year. I was sad it was over, but I can't wait until next year.

My Life As A Pumpkin

Mrs. Wallace's 5th grade

I'm Charlie Pumpkin and I grew up on Mr. Fitzgibbons farm. I'm a small pumpkin. I lost two teeth.

After five months Mr. Hall (the neighbor) came and picked me. I was carved into a nice jack-o-lantern. It was the wierdest feeling ever. He took out my guts and put a candle in me. Sometimes the candle burned out.

Halloween night was kind of scary. I saw lots of kids that liked me and thought I looked cute on the porch.

After Halloween I got thrown out and smashed by some punks. It hurt. Then I got ran over by a car. It hurt, too.

My Life As A Pumpkin
Mrs. Wallace's 5th grade

I am a gangster pumpkin. I was born in the hospital. A farmer was out planting pumpkin seeds. When he got done, he came in. He had one seed left so he stuck it in his pocket.

That day the man had a heart attack. The took him to the hospital. The seed in his pocket fell out. It got kicked under the bed. The farmer died.

I was born under the bed. When I was grown up some lady found me and took me home. She had ten children. They threw me around all day.

They decided to carve me. They made me look like a gangster.

On Halloween they put me on the porch. Nobody came to our house. I watched everybody go by our house, but nobody stopped. I stayed outside.

After Halloween I sat outside for two months. Then they took me in the road and smashed me all over.

"There's a mix-up with the Drakes and the Todds," declared the town gossip, Amelia. "You know the boys, Andy, Charles, and Bob Todd. They're in love with those Drake Girls, Mary, Linda, and Nancy."

Doris never gossips, but she does know what goes on in a small town. "What mix-up?" she asked.

"Why, Andy's in love with Mary, but she dotes on Bob," replied Amelia. "And Bob wants Linda."

Doris smiled, saying nothing. She knew none of those last statements could be true. All was well as between the 3 boys and girls, who were paired off happily, to their own and the parents' mutual satisfaction.

Big Game Here Friday Gaylord Win Will Send Vikings To Play-Offs

With its 44-14 win over Harbor Springs last Friday, the Grayling High School varsity football team is now bucking for its first spot ever in the MHSAA football play-offs — if GHS can beat Gaylord on October 26.

To be a contender in the play-offs, a team must occupy one of the top four spots in its region. Before the Harbor Springs game, Grayling stood in 3rd place among Class CC schools.

"If we win Friday, we're definitely in 3rd place," said Athletic Director and Assistant Coach Mike Branch.

The Harbor Springs team proved no match for the Vikings, who played their entire varsity roster, as well as 12 junior varsity team members who suited up for their first varsity game. (The HS JV team forfeited to GHS on Thursday evening, due to an insufficient number of players.)

In the first quarter, senior halfback Mick McKinney scored for Grayling and ran in the two-point conversion.

HS answered right back, but couldn't make the conversion, to bring the score to 8-6.

McKinney scored on the following kick-off with a 72-yard run and sophomore halfback Gary Schroyer ran in the ball for extra points, bringing the score to 16-6.

Senior quarterback Matt Branch scored on a run in the second period and Schroyer again scored the extra points.

A few minutes later, McKinney caught a 21-yard TD pass from Branch, but Grayling missed the PAT.

Harbor Springs made their final TD just before the end of the quarter, making the half-time score 23-14.

In the third quarter, Coach Don Stowers began playing members of the GHS JV squad. Sophomore halfback Jason Brigham made his first varsity touchdown on a two-yard run. Branch ran in the two-point conversion, bringing the score to 36-14.

Branch threw a four-yard TD pass to senior split-end Scott Nicholas and Brigham ran in the conversion, making the score 44-14.

In the fourth quarter, Grayling played its junior varsity squad. While neither team scored in the final period, the JVs "moved the ball," said Stowers.

Branch had a particularly good game, said his coaches. He made nine completions on 13 attempts for 110 yards.

Added Stowers, "He took the passes that they gave him," throwing to teammates who were open rather than take unnecessary chances looking for certain receivers.

Branch allowed no interceptions and did a good job faking and running the ball, said Coach Stowers. He also intercepted a HS pass in the second quarter while playing defensive back.

McKinney caught five passes for 75 yards. Schroyer caught two for 11 yards, and Nicholas caught two for 24 yards.

In the rushing column, McKinney made 106 yards in 11 carries. Senior fullback Dana Mirate followed closely with 97 yards in 14 carries.

Schroyer gained 29 yards in six carries; Brigham, 42 yards in 10 carries; and sophomore fullback Steve Branch, 36 yards in seven carries.

The entire offensive line — senior Todd Thorsen at center, junior Scott Hartman and senior Max Prosser at guard and juniors Chris Lehti and Mark Andrus at tackle — all did a fine job this week, said Coach Branch.

Lehti did another outstanding job covering kick-offs, said Branch.

For the defense, Thorsen and senior Joe LaForest led in tackles, with six apiece. Prosser followed with five. Lehti, Hartman and McKinney each had four.

The Gaylord match on Friday is an important game, said Branch, "not only because it will set us up as far as qualifying for the state play-offs, but also because it's a great rivalry game."

Kick-off time for the Vikings' final game of the regular season — and the contest that will determine its eligibility for the state play-offs — is 7:30 p.m.

(In last week's story, junior Chris Lehti was incorrectly identified.)

JV Girls Keep Winning

The Grayling High School girls junior varsity basketball team won both of its games last week, defeating Boyne City and Gladwin.

The Vikings trounced the Ramblers, 45-20, on Tuesday evening.

Scoring for Grayling were: sophomore Sarah Mleek, 12; sophomore Heidi Craigie, nine; sophomore Amy Vandecar and freshman Darcie McCurdy, six; sophomore Heather Millikin, five; sophomore Valorie Schans, three; and sophomore Gina Luppo and freshman Jamie Andrus, two.

S. Mleek was high rebounder with 12. Vandecar and Andrus each contributed six.

"We dominated on defense again," said Coach Dallas Hudson. "Our defense has been our strong point all year long. We switched defenses on them throughout the game. The girls performed real well."

Forward Jamie Andrus had a really good game, offensively and defensively. "She's improving steadily," said Hudson. "She has won a starting position the second half of the season with her play."

WIN OVER GLADWIN

Everyone on the Viking team scored in the 41-33 victory over Gladwin on Thursday.

Andrus and S. Mleek had eight; Millikin, McCurdy, Craigie and sophomore Sue Huss, four; Vandecar, Luppo, sophomore Jodi Denno and Schans, two; and freshman Mandee Mleek, one.

Likewise, all the Vikings contributed to the rebounding effort.

Andrus had 13; S. Mleek, ten; Millikin and M. Mleek, eight; McCurdy, Huss and Denno, six; Craigie and Vandecar, four; Schans, three; and Luppo, two.

Hudson said that they knew very little about Gladwin beforehand, so they "stayed with the regular game plan we have used all year — start with a full court press, change our defenses, attack on offense."

The Vikings dominated with their press, so they "returned to a zone defense and played a lot of non-starters most of the game."

"The girls played very well," concluded Coach Hudson. "I was pleased with the way they controlled the play of the game."

The JV squad is now preparing for their home game against Lake City on October 25. Tip-off time is 6:15 p.m.

7th Graders Earn Another Victory

The Grayling Middle School 7th grade girls basketball team split a pair of games last week, beating West Branch St. Joseph and losing to Gladwin.

On October 15, the 7th graders defeated a young St. Joe squad by a score of 21-13.

Scoring for the Vikings were: Jessica Wyss, seven; Trisha Ormsbee, four; Jenny Wallace and Erin Welke, three each; Sarah Amman and Brion Davis, two each.

BLUE DEVILS WIN
The 7th grade squad recorded its second loss for the season against Gladwin, 26-16, on October 17.

Jenny Wilkins was high scorer for the Vikings, with eight. Mandy McEvers, Amy Mertes had three each and Ormsbee scored two.

The Blue Devils were a good, well-coached team, said 7th grade Coach Harold Mertes. "They were well-prepared for us."

"Their competitiveness showed up our weaknesses and strengths, as individuals and as a team," he continued. "Including mine, because I consider myself a team member."

Mertes said that his team did some self-analysis and, as a result, are coming together as a team.

"We are working hard to correct weaknesses and look forward to a tough game against Johannesburg next week (Wednesday, October 24, away, 6 p.m.). They beat us last time and we're working hard to meet the challenge."

The 7th graders presently hold an admirable 8-2 record, with two games remaining. On Thursday, October 25, they close their 1990 season away against St. Joseph.

8th Grade Beats St. Joseph 33-12

GAYLORD WINS

The

Gaylord Blue Devils

snuck by the Vikings, 19-16, on October 17.

Gayling scorers included:

Parker, five; Rochette,

Wilcox, Galvani and Haske,

two each; Mandy Duvall,

Hinds and Samara Sabin, one each.

It was a really good game in which both teams played well, said Parker.

The Vikings were playing with a reduced squad, as four guards and one forward were out injured.

The 8th grade team travels to Johannesburg on Wednesday, October 24, and to St. Joseph on Thursday, October 25, to complete their season.

Grayling Nips Gladwin

The Grayling High School girls varsity basketball team split a pair of games in last week's action.

On October 16, the Vikings lost to Boyne City, 56-38.

Scoring for Grayling were: Senior Nikki Morrill, 17; senior Heather Stephenson, seven; sophomore Elissa Cox, six; senior Lisa Jo Barber, four; and senior Claudine Allen and junior Michelle Parker, two apiece.

Grayling was much slower than Boyne City, said Coach Howard Lehti. "We had a difficult time getting back on defense and, generally speaking, our rebounding was inadequate."

He added that the Ramblers shot really well from the floor — 55 percent as compared to the Vikings' 33 percent.

WIN OVER GLADWIN

Grayling turned around, though, to defeat Gladwin, 56-55, on Thursday evening.

Coach Lehti said the game was won at the free throw line, where Grayling shot 72 percent (18 for 25), "our highest, no doubt, for the year."

In the fourth quarter alone, ten of the 11 Viking points were made from the line.

Morrill again was high scorer, with 17. Stephenson followed closely, with 16. Cox added eight; junior Brenda up by four.

The Vikings' main concern then was not to foul, while simultaneously forcing Gladwin to take its worst shot.

A Gladwin player did, in fact, sink a three-pointer just before the buzzer sounded to end the game. But it wasn't enough to defeat the Grayling squad, which won by one point.

Lehti said that the Vikings had a comfortable lead (32-21) at half-time, but they didn't come out ready to play in the third quarter.

October is National Restaurant Month

WEATHERLY'S--Muriel Weatherly has helped make Weatherly's a popular gathering spot by featuring Mexican food and other specials.

BEAR'S--The salad bar and country style specials has earned Bear's Country Inn a reputation for serving fine food.

Good Food Attracts Residents, Visitors to Local Restaurants

Each week during National Restaurant Month, the Avalanche is looking at some of our area restaurants. Before traveling out of town, check out Crawford County's best eating places. You'll be surprised at the great taste and value found right here.

Weatherly's brings the Mexican connection to northern Michigan. Wet burritos, nachos, and taco salads are part of the reason Weatherly's is a popular gathering place for locals and visitors.

Other tasty items on the menu at Weatherly's are the Friday and Saturday specials that keep people coming back each week. Located on Industrial Drive just off M-72 East, Weatherly's also has a banquet hall to serve your special dining events.

Bear's Country Inn has built a fine reputation for good food through its country style meals. Bear's offers country style specials every day of the week.

With extensive remodeling and expansion, Bear's has a large dining area and also has banquet rooms. Located on Old 27 North on the I-75 Business Loop, Bear's has a breakfast, lunch, or dinner on its menu for all tastes.

Albie's has brought the famous U.P. pasties to Grayling and residents as well as visitors are appreciating it. Besides the well-known pasties, Albie's has a wide assortment of menu items including subs, salads, and chicken.

Albie's delicious food is available at the drive-through window, for dining in, or carry-out. The restaurant is open 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. along M-72 West near its junction with the I-75 Business Loop.

Wendy's is offering its Super Value Menu right now that is easy to like for the taste and the price. Seven high quality products -- the Jr. Bacon Cheeseburger, the Garden Salad, Baked Potato, Frozen Dairy Dessert, the Biggie Fry, the Biggie Drink, and Wendy's homemade chili are priced at just 99 cents each.

With the Super Value Menu, a made-to-order meal can still be enjoyed for less than $3.

BPW Collecting Toys For Christmas Project

With Christmas just around the corner, the Business and Professional Women's Club of Grayling is once again asking for help to make this a happy and memorable Christmas for less fortunate children of our community. In the past the residents of Crawford County have opened their hearts to share a Merry Christmas with their neighbors.

This year BPW is asking for donations of new toys and games. Toys are needed for newborns through age fourteen. Games should be suitable for a whole family to enjoy.

Toys and games may be dropped off at the North Country Lodge, Great Lakes Bancorp, or the Holiday Inn. If a cash donation is preferred, checks may be made payable to "The Crawford County Community Services" and mailed in care of Ruth Smith, Box 5170, Rt. 5, Grayling, MI, 49738.

St. John Ladies Host Luncheon

The Ladies of St. John Lutheran Church will host a luncheon and card party in the Fellowship Hall at the church on Wednesday, October 24.

Luncheon will be served at 11:30 a.m., followed by cards.

Fill a table or just come. (Please note the change of time.)

For more information call Lois LaGrow at 348-7011; Dorothy McLeod at 348-9169; or the church office at 348-5224.

The Bible Speaks

New Agers Hate Christianity

As a former New Age author, lecturer, and leader, Randall N. Baer in his book "Inside the New Age Nightmare" describes how New Agers hate Christianity and plan to destroy it. He quoted Nobel prize-winning scientist Erwin Chargaff, called the "Father of Bioengineering" as saying: "There has not been and there will not be a place for the unfit. The fit will lead, and if the unfit are not coming along there is no place for them... In the Age of Enlightenment there is no place for ignorant people. Nature will not allow ignorance to prevail. It just can't. Non-existence of the unfit has been the law of nature."

New Age literature speaks of "re-education centers of love and peace" where "lower vibration people" or "evolutionary laggards" or "narrow-minded relics of an old age" can be prepared for a "Golden New World Era." For those who cannot be educated, there will be compassionate removal. "... ignorant, evolutionarily inferior souls of a lower vibratory rate must be compassionately transferred to another world of their own choosing that fits their lower spiritual level." These people are described as reaping "bad collective karma." The New Age leaders hold that, "If it's their karma to be cleansed from the Earth to reincarnate into another more appropriate, less evolved planet, then that is the perfection of divine order." "... The time cometh that whosoever killeth you will think that he doth God service." (John 16:2).

New Age channel and author Ken Carey in his book

From Calvary Baptist Church

"Return of the Bird Tribes" says: "The Great Day of Purification has begun, a short but essential cycle of division that will gather those who promote fear and violence and separate them from this season of the world as chaff is separated from wheat threshing." Baer points out that the New Age agenda will call for "holy duty" to "purify all oppositional elements that are holding back the fullness of the New World Order."

You may remember when I quoted a leading New Age prophetess Alice A. Bailey in her book, "The Externalization of the Hierarchy" in which she suggested the proper use of atomic weapons in the New World Order: "It belongs to the United Nations for use when aggressive action on the part of any nation rears its ugly head. It does not essentially matter whether that aggression is the gesture of any particular nation or group of nations or whether it is generated by the political groups of any powerful religious organization, such as the Church of Rome, who are as yet unable to leave politics alone and attend to the business for which all religions are responsible -- leading human beings closer to the God of love." With loving, compassionate "friends" like the New Agers, Christians need not worry about "enemies."

CHURCH DIRECTORY

.....Sparkling Silence"

There is a song which has been popular for many years, entitled "Little Things Mean A Lot." One of those "little things" is a smile.

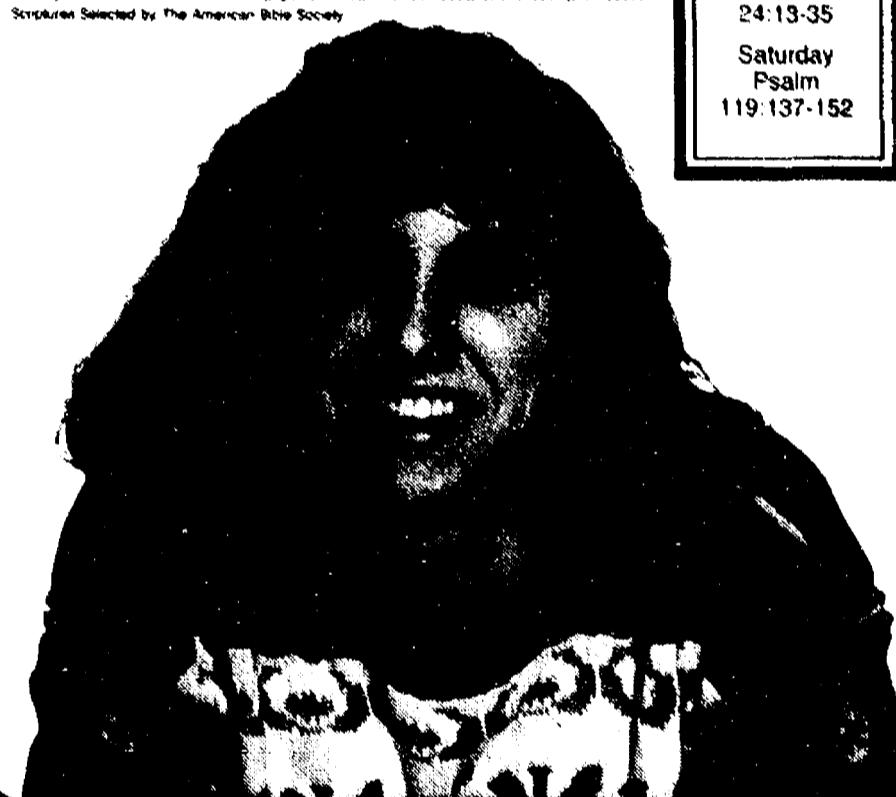

Have you ever experienced a day when everything seemed to be going wrong? Then you happened upon someone who gave you a smile... a special smile which traveled from the heart... paused at the lips... and went on to reflect the warmth of caring eyes. Maybe that smile brightened the moment, or even gave you that extra bit of strength to make it through the day feeling less "blue."

So, as you go on your way, try to give someone you pass that very special gift of a smile. It takes such little effort... yet it can mean so much.

As we worship God this week, may we thank Him for smiles... for the love of God may be reflected from the shining window of a twinkling eye, making mere words unnecessary...

"that ultimate sparkling silence."
